Ocean Data Bank

Data use policy

Last updated 26 November 2026

Our graphics are free to use and share under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 licence (CC BY 4.0), as long as you credit us and the original sources.

The Ocean Data Bank is an open library of ocean data graphics made by Oceanographic and Kanaloa for journalists, NGOs, educators and policy makers. Every graphic has its own page with the story behind it, its caveats and a full list of sources. By downloading a graphic, you agree to the terms below.

Terms of use

1. Licence. Our graphics are © CXD MEDIA LTD 2026. Unless a graphic's page says otherwise, they are licensed under CC BY 4.0. You may share, reproduce and adapt them, including for commercial use, as long as you give credit.
2. Exceptions. Some graphics are built on data with stricter terms, such as non-commercial use only. Where this applies, the graphic's page says so under "Media usage", and those terms take priority.
3. Credit. Use the credit line on each graphic's page, for example "Graphic: Ocean Data Bank / Oceanographic and Kanaloa. Source: [data source]". Where a page credits third-party icons or artwork, please include that credit too.
4. Use the graphic whole. The credit, sources and context are built into each image, so please don't crop them out. Resizing is fine. If you crop, translate, recolour or otherwise change a graphic, say that it has been modified.
5. Read the write-up. Each page explains how to describe the key numbers, what the graphic does and doesn't show, and its caveats. Please check it before writing about a graphic.
6. The data belong to their owners. We don't own the underlying data. Each source keeps its own licence and terms, which are listed on the graphic's page. Please cite the original source and follow its terms if you reuse the data itself.
7. No endorsement. Please keep our logos in the graphic, but don't use them, or our sources' logos, on their own. Using a graphic doesn't mean the Ocean Data Bank, Oceanographic, Kanaloa or any data provider endorses your work.
8. Tell us how you used it. We'd love to see where our graphics end up. If you can, please send a link or copy of your work to oceandatabank@oceanographicmagazine.com.

Downloads and your data

PNG downloads need no details from you. To download an SVG file, we ask for your name, email address and how you plan to use the graphic. We use this to understand how our graphics are used. Signing up for updates about a graphic is optional and separate from downloading, and you can unsubscribe at any time. For how we store and handle your details, see the privacy policy (Part C) on Oceanographic's legal page.

Disclaimer

We check every figure against its primary source before publishing, but we can't guarantee that the graphics or the underlying data are free of errors. We accept no liability for any loss arising from their use. Map boundaries and place names don't imply any view on the legal status of a territory. Graphics may change without notice. We may update this policy. The date at the top shows the latest version.
